EVANGELIST TALKS ON CONVERSION

INTIMATES IT IS NOT A SHOWER OF TEARS

Says the Devil Could go to Sleep if Every Man Was Converted in the Same Way—Thirty-One More Profess Faith

"I am not going to attempt to preach a sermon tonight, I'm just going to give you a talk on a subject I want to press home to you," said Evangelist Smith in opening his address on the subject of conversion in the service at the tent last evening.

He based his remarks on the ninth verse of the ninth chapter of St. Matthew, "He arose and followed Him." Mr. Smith spoke substantially as here given:

"I had an interesting talk on the street today with an old gentleman who thought that because the people came quietly down the aisles here they were not converted, and he told me of the old-time conversions of years ago, how they occurred and the things which happened.

"A great many people think you are not converted unless you go to campmeeting, roll around on the ground, froth at the mouth and look so haggard that your wife wouldn't know you. And then there are others who think if you are not converted in the same manner they were you are not converted at all.

"Religion is not in the handkerchief and a lot of tears! It's in your will! You can yield your all just where you sit here tonight. Conversions are not all alike. Nearly all cases in the New Testament were different. If we were all converted the same way, the devil could go to sleep. He wouldn't have to plan so many different attacks.

"The night the jailer was converted in prison there was thunder and lightning, but the man in the ninth chapter of Matthew was not converted in that way.

"You couldn't have got Nicodemus to roll on the ground! Take Paul, his was a noisy case again. He was changed from a persecutor to a preacher. But for every noisy case of conversion you can find a thousand quiet ones.

"Don't you criticise the way in which someone else became converted. When the Son of God said unto Matthew 'follow me,' he dropped his business and followed Him.

"You remember the story of the blind man, how Christ annointed his eyes and restored his sight, and that when Jesus asked him 'dost thou believe in the Lord?' the man said, 'Lord, I believe.' He said I know! He was not like you half-baked backsliders. Fancy me asking you if you're a Christian and of your answering 'I hope so.' If you don't know, then the devil has robbed you of something you should know!

"You say you can't stand for Christ—can't work for Him. Why, it's the grandest business in the world to lead a soul to God! Who could come to old Alexandria with any other message and fill this tent every night for three weeks, excepting the gospel of Jesus Christ?

"I ask you to say no to sin, and yes to Christ, and purity. A man up in New York state, a lawyer, went out walking in the woods. While alone he asked himself if he was doing what he ought to do — and Charles Finney started a revival right there. Dr. Wilbur Chapman was only 12 years old when he first stood up for Christ, but there are thousands who date their conversions on the nights Chapman preached. God looked down in the pit of a mine one day, Reuben Torrey became converted, and forty thousand people were added to the Welch churches! Supposing these men had turned down Christ as you've done!

"Christ came to Matthew because he was the only one who could do what He wanted done, and because Matthew took a stand for Christ he became the writer of the first gospel. Christ wants you!

"I remember my own coming out in a church in New York. Had lived with my wife two years. Loved her but didn't take any stock in her religion. I took care of baby one night while wife went to church. She came running into the house and said 'husband, I can't go to sleep until you give your heart to God.' Next night she asked me if I'd go to church. I said yes. We left baby with a neighbor and went. I hadn't been there in a long time. When invitation was given I stood up in my seat. Wife was crying. And then I went forward!

"I know I've made a muss of it. But you'll admit that I've done my level best for you. Men, you know you ought to be Christians! You're making either for heaven or hell! I plead with you to give your hearts to God.

"Down in the Southland a young man lay ill in a hospital. The doctor decided his trouble was of the mind instead of the body. A young lady inquired about him, went to the florists' and ordered some beautiful flowers sent to him with her card and love. She had forgiven him. He got better.

"One day God, while walking around through the gardens of Heaven, plucked the choicest flower, and tenderly leaning over the battlements, dropped it down into the manger in Bethlehem, and the card accompanying it bore this message: 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whomsoever believeth in Him might not die, but have everlasting life.'

"Will you accept Him?"

Thirty-one persons walked down the aisles as the invitation was given and added their names to the list of converts.

THE RAMBLER.

Paragraphic Points Picked up by Our Man on the Street.

Late last night I dropped into a Lunch Room to get a cup of coffee. A roughly clad fellow in the chair next to me chuckled. I looked over his shoulder to see what had amused him. He was reading one of Walt Mason's prose poems in The Star. Of course you know Walt Mason. His stuff appears daily in, approximately five hundred newspapers. His little 'pieces' are nearly always optimistic in tone; they are never bitter. They never hammer although sometimes they gently ridicule. He is, in fact, the Apostle of the Joy of Living and he never rises above the understanding of the most humble folk.

I haven't see or spoken to Walt for nearly eight years. I close my eyes for a moment and play the memory game and see him again. He is a short, fat, stubby sort of a chap with an enormous head thickly thatched with grey hair; and he's deaf as a post. As I see him he is sitting in a little bit of a room between the business office and the composing room of the Emporia Gazette, the newspaper in which William Allen White tells Kansas and the rest of the Nation 'where it get off at.'

Emporia is not a big as Alexandria but it has two great men in it and a great little newspaper. White, you remember, wrote "A Certain Rich Man," and other big books. He read a part of the M.S.S. of "A Certain Rich Man" to me as we sat before a log fire, in his worshop, on the third floor of his frame house, one night. Mrs. White was away visiting in Topcka and White and I had undressed the two kids and put them to bed after a dinner which we had largely cooked ourselves before we commenced the reading. When the book came out and proved so successful I remembered how little White thought of it and how he was tempted to throw it amid the embers of the fire when we went to bed a long, long time after midnight.

White is a short as Walt and much fatter, and has, if there's any of it left, red hair. Everybody in Emporia calls him 'Bill.' He likes it. If Bill and Walt were to walk down King street this afternoon and you were to meet them you wouldn't look at them twice. They're very commonplace looking chaps who never bother about having their pants creased but what an influence each, in his own way, has upon the thought of the common people of America.

Walt Mason was born in Canada but gravitated to the middle--West as a journeyman printer. For many years he fought booze—hard. Bill White helped him to conquer. Walt has turned his evil experience to a good use; and when a man is strong enough to do that he becomes a power. Witness 'Billy' Sunday, John B. Gough and thousands of other men whom it is possible to anme.

A man's potentiality for evil is his potentiality for good. As I said, a day or two ago, the pendulum swings as far one way as it does the other. As long as a man continues to breathe the man-spark flickers in him. Let us never give up hope that the fellow who is down-and-out will some day start travelling upward. And lets do all we humanly can to help him to do so. If there's a bigger task than the salvage of a human soul please drop in and tell me what it is.

LOOKING TOWARD ALEXANDRIA

Mr. L. L. Whitestone, who has just returned from a business trip which took him to all the most important trade centers in Virginia within a radius of one hundred miles of Alexandria, reports a very profitable return for his time and says that the people in the sections he visited are coming to realise that they can get very much quicker service here than from Washington.

Mr. Whitestone is one of the members of the firm doing business as Whitestone and Clark and is engaged in handling produce at wholesale. The other members of the firm are R. P. Whitestone and R. Dan Clarke. They opened their establishment at the corner of King and Lee streets about six months ago and have been successful from the start. They were the first strictly wholesale produce dealers, to open an establishment here in recent years.

As Mr. Whitestone says the firm does business 'both going and coming.' They buy the produce of the farmers handling it either on commission or buying it outright, and they sell fruit and such seasonable vegetables as the surrounding country does not provide to the towns in which the farmers do their own shopping.

Mr. Business Man:

Do you know of any other business man who has attained to any worth-while success without the use of some form of advertising? If you do, we wish that you would tell us who he is in order that we may quiz him a little. He has a secret that's worth a lot of money. And have you ever stopped to think that advertising is an expressions of confidence in yourself and the kind of wares you handle? And that people so understood it?

Foolish men in the past have resorted to tricks in advertising. They have used fine words as decoys to lure people into their establishments, and have then trimmed those who came. But, in reality, they were simply trimming themselves. The biggest asset that a business man can have is a satisfied customer. That kind of a customer provides a very valuable form of advertising — the word-of-mouth-kind. But in order to increase the number of these, which we hope you now possess, you should keep on telling people the truth about what you have. Do you get that? KEEP ON TELLING PEOPLE. The average person has a short memory. Its up to you to keep them posted. The Gazette provides you the medium with which to do this.

Yours for service,
THE GAZETTE.

ALEXANDRIA WOMEN PLAN ACTIVITIES

WILL COMMENCE PROGRAMS IN NEAR FUTURE.

Church and Affiliated Organizations as Also Clubs to Take Prominent Part During Coming Season in City's Social and Philanthropic Life.

Immediately after the close of the Gypsy Smith, jr., revival the women of Alexandria will commence their usual Fall activities along club, social and religious lines. From the tentative plans now in existence it would appear that the coming season will be full of interest, and particularly will this be true if the proposal to form an interdenominational organization of workers of the churches for evangelistic purposes is to be put into effect. It is hoped that they will be enabled to hold a meeting in the First Baptist church on next Wednesday night to consider this matter.

Miss Helen Cummings, president of the Cameron Club, and State President of the Federation of Women's Clubs, states that the Cameron Club members will hold a meeting next week for the purpose of outlining a program for the three sections of the Club during the coming season. It has, however, she states, already been decided to continue the work of the School Nurse, Miss Mary Monroe which last season proved so successful in that Miss Monroe has found her way into the hearts of both scholars and pupils. The recent appropriation of $250, made by the City Council, has been a great help.

The first meeting of The Tea-Cup Club, now entering upon the sixteenth year of its existence, will be held one day next week also in the home of Mrs. Samuel L. Monroe, in the Ramsey Annex. While the course of reading for the season of this unique little Club has not been decided it is thought that it may include the study of the English and Spanish Queens.

Among the churches, in addition to the union movement contemplated, there will be great individual activity. The members of the Catholic Woman's Benevolent Legion and other women's church organizations of that faith are planning a very active work for the church good. The Alumnae of St. Mary's Academy are also planning to work along the same lines. Their first meeting of the season occurs tonight, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Academy.

The members of the Temple Sisterhood of the Reformed Congregation, of which Mrs. Albert Driefus is president, held its first meeting on Monday night. In this financial matters appertaining to the congregation were considered. The first meeting of the Council, of Jewish Women under the lead of Mrs. Edith Bendheim, will be held on the first Monday in October. This body of women is interdenominational in its charitable activities and is an important factor in the social life of the city.

Among the other societies which will have their first meetings soon after the close of the Revival are: Immanuel Ladies' Aid Society, treasurer, Mrs. William Recker; Grace Church Woman's Auxiliary for Women's Missions, president, Mrs. Edgar Carpenter; treasurer, Miss Laura King, and secretary Mrs. Charles Deahl.

Next week, on Thursday afternoon, the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church will hold its first meeting under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Ross. Mrs. John I. Harrison, is secretary and Mrs. Lewis C. Nalls treasurer of this organization. In the near future also the Parish Aid Society of Christ Church will hold its first meeting in the Parish Hall. Mrs. Thomas Robinson is president and Mrs. Dabney H. Herndon, secretary of this organization.

There are many other local women's organizations which are planning their season's activities whose plans will be announced later in the columns of the Gazette.

Among these latter are the Willard and Allison Unions of the W. C. T. U., members of which do not contemplate any let-up in their work even though the State is so soon to go dry. They will hold their regular weekly meetings throughout the season and plan to work along educational lines.

The regular monthly meeting of the Christ Church Parish Branch of the Women's Auxiliary ,will be held Monday, October 2nd, at 3 p. m. in the Parish Hall. At this meeting the auxiliaries of the three Episcopal Churches of this city will meet for the purpose of holding a Memorial Service for their late Diocesan President, Miss Sallie Stuart. It is hoped that not only members of the auxiliary but all members of the congregation will be present.

ANNE LEE MEMORIAL HOME

Donation Day Announced For Tomorrow—Official Dedication and Opening Oct. 24

The board of governors of the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged announce tomorrow as a Donation Day for that deserving institution, concerning which the Gazette takes pleasure in giving space to the following statement from the members of the board:

The Board of Governors of the Anne Lee Memorial Home of the Aged, wish to announce the opening of the Home, Monday Oct. 2d. While improvements are far from being completed, the work has progressed, despite the wave of financial depression which has swept our country, and we feel we can make comfortable the dear old people who are now with us, and those who are waiting so patiently to be admitted. We feel we should be congratulated on the work we have achieved under existing conditions. For while our city has been drained to send help to those suffering from the gruesome war, so thoroughly understood is the feeling that our tenderest consideration should be for the aged, that no matter what urgent need develops, when the call for the contributions arrive the care of the aged has the first claim on our hearts.

Our Home will be opened tomorrow, Friday, September 29th, for donations of groceries, provisions and supplies of all kinds with which to begin our house-keeping. We earnestly beg that each and every one will come to our home that day, bringing a gift, no matter how small for our aged. Help us who regard it as a blessed privilege to make brighter their lives, and guide their weary footsteps to the threshold of the door that will sooner or later open for each of us.

Our Home is a memorial to a mother. Make your gift in the name of your own mother. She may be still with you guarded by your tender love and care, or she may have passed on to the beyond, leaving in your hearts a heritage of loving memories. Keep the holiness of our work ever before you. Let each and every one give as best they can on Friday, to the earnest workers who are striving to fulfill Our Dead Lord's teaching in caring for His children.

The official opening and dedication will be on October 24th.

Just received, three barrels of select crabs. On sale at Jacob Brill's at the foot of King street. 226-3t.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW

There is a work which badly needs doing in Alexandria that could be done with very little expense to the city if each individual property owner or renter would devote a very little time to it. Alexandria very badly needs a hair cut.

In the main the city streets are well-paved and the more important of them are kept as clean as those of the average city. That there is a disposition on the part of the people to help the authorities in this work is well evidenced by the use made of the refuse cans placed at intervals about the main thoroughfares.

Why not, then, devote a little energy to the rooting out of the grass and weeds which grow in many of the other streets of the city? Why allow it to resemble a deserted village?

It is true that this verbiage adds to the picturesqueness of the city, but this sort of charm is not what a prospective settler, intent upon business, is looking for. It is apt to give him a bad impression of the inhabitants to lead him to believe that they are slothful and not inclined to clean their municipal teeth.

Why not set aside a day to do this particular job? It would take but a little time and it would have an astonishing effect upon the city's appearance. People who have lived here for a long time can hardly understand what an unfavorable impression these proutings create in the minds of the stranger.

KITCHENER'S WORK.

How many of those, we wonder, who read of the great Bristish victory at Combles thought of Kitchener, who made it possible?

There can be no question but that it came about as a result of his genius for organization and far-thinking. It was he who first set about the assembling of the citizen-army, at one time derisively termed K'itchener's Mob,' which is now slowly, but surely crumbling the German lines. Two years ago ninty per cent of the men now on the Western front for the allies were absolutely without military training.

We are wont to talk proudly, as we have a right to do, of our own citizen soldiers of the civil war; and we are apt to regard them as being the only volunteers who have greatly achieved in battle in modern times. And we are apt, also, to think and speak of the men at war in Europe as if they are all trained soldiers of the regular armies. As a matter of fact the vast majority of these latter, excepting only, perhaps, in Germany, Austria and Italy, are in reality just as truly civilians as are our own boys now out on the Mexican border. The standing armies of Europe will be found to be very small indeed by the time peace shall have come.

MARTINE'S SUCCESS IMMATERIAL.

There is no occasion for dismay concerning Senator Martine's success in the New Jersey primaries. Because he was persona non grata with the President does not signify that Mr. Wilson very strongly supported his opponent, former State's Attorney General Westcott. As a matter of fact Mr. Wescott should never have been placed in the running. He is in no sense a strong man and is personally very unpopular with the rank and file of the Jersey voters, who were placed between the limburger and the onions in their Senatorial choice.

Martine, though of very ordinary mental calibre, is a jovial sort of a somebody and so won. And there is more than a possibility that he will be returned. The Republican cry that the G. O. P. will gain one in the Senate is, therefore, very farfetched if the result in Jersey is reckoned on. Mr. Wilson undoubtedly would have preferred the nomination of Mr. Westcott but [illegible] strictly party counting-of-s[illegible] viewpoint, it is better the[illegible] have received the [illegible]

LAST WEEK OF SERVICES

The interest in the services at the gospel tent increases as the last day of the campaign draws near. Every seat in the tabernacle was occupied again last night, while the number who occupied benches without or stood during the services was as large as ever.

Rev. Gypsy Smith spoke, from the 9th chapter of the Gospel of Matthew—"And he (Matthew) arose and followed him." The speaker dwelt upon the call of the publican, and spoke suggestively of the manner in which different persons pass through the process of the new birth. This all-important event, he said, is in most cases accompanied by serenity, the new convert determining in his mind to live henceforth as a witness for the Son of God. It is not so in many cases, conversion appealing to some in a different way; hence no little excitement follows when such realize that they are heirs of the kingdom. But all are true converts, although, unfortunately, many erroneously suppose that those not converted in their way are liable to suspicion.

Mr. Smith called attention to the fact that it would have been impossible to have assembled such crowds nightly for three weeks under the auspices of politics, temperance or any other cause, which is proof conclusive that the Spirit is striving with our people, and an earnest call is being made in our midst.

Those who have crossed the ocean will remember that a steward will pass up and down the smoke room about ten minutes to eleven o'clock and cry "Last call!" meaning that if any one desires a "night cap" he must order it, as the room will soon be closed and passengers ordered to their staterooms. Let us think of this and ponder over the earnest words of the evangelist last night, who will be here a few more days to remain with us.

Bunyan in his "Pilgrim's Progress" tells us of Christian being carried through the house of the interpreter. He is shown a hen with a brood of chickens. The old bird is maintaining a continuous chuck, but at a certain time it utters a peculiar call, when the little chicks rush under the wings of their protector. The explanation is interesting. The chronic chuck of the hen is the gospel call which we hear continually, but occasionally there is a more imperative summons which causes us to rush toward the greatest of all our friends and comforters.

CLUBBED HIS PRISONER.

A story in another column of the Gazette tells of a struggle for his life between an Alexandria policeman and a desperate negro yesterday, during which the officer, in order to preserve his life, was forced to deliver a knockout blow to his dusky antagonist. The darkey received a terrible blow, but it was one of those cases where the guardian of our lives and property would probably have forfeited his life had he refrained from using drastic means. The negro presented a sorry picture as he stood in the dock of the police court this morning.

There is generally much commisseration expressed by certain people who espouse the cause of the under dog on general principles, when an officer is forced to use his stick. It was probably so in this case, but such expressions generally come from people who know nothing about the cases.

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS

Austin Colgate, G. O. P. nominee for Governor of New Jersey, is a member of the firm of tooth-paste and soap manufacturers. Having made millions out of people who desire to keep clean we wonder if he can make a clean governor.

'Kitchener's mob' seems to be doing some mobbing these days to judge from the news from the Somme front.

That overflowing fountain on Cameron street seems to be 'sloppy' work on the part of the municipality.

If, as the press agants of the liquor interests so frequently assure us, prohibition does not prohibit, why the press agents? And why kick-up such a pother about prohibition? Just thing what a lot of booze money prohibition saves!

'Perkins Protests against Wilson's Speech.' Its about time George was heard from.

'Toilers Hear Hughes.' So runs a headline. What's the matter? Doesn't their work make them weary enough?

Post headline reads: "Mexicans cross Line." How dare they!

The Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, has commenced an "America First Campaign" to induce the people of the cities and towns to secure the attendance at night school classes of non-English speaking foreigners. VIRGINIA NEWS

Paragraphs Picked Up Here and There Throughout the State.

Dr. R. W. Crawford died this week at Strasburg. He had been chief surgeon of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, his offices being in Wilmington, North Carolina.

A story of a desperate battle with a German submarine off the coast of Algiers is told by Captain Fishwick, of the British steamer Antinous which arrived at Newport News yesterday. With her two small calibre guns mounted astern, the steamer kept the attacking submarine at such a distance that she could not fire a torpedo and in spite of a hail of fire from the longer range rifles of the the submarine fell behind and gave up the chase. Many shells hit the Antinous, one tearing away part of the bridge, another penetrating the bunkers and still another lodging just over one of the boilers.

Robert Neas, 14 years old, son of W. C. Neas, was killed Wednesday at his home near Colemans Falls in the vicinity of Lynchburg. His head was caught by a belt and crushed between a lever and a wheel of a cane-grinding machine.

The first man-eating shark of the season to be captured alive in the Chesapeake Bay was caught yesterday. The big fish measured eight feet in length. It weighed nearly 600 pounds.

Frank Ramosch, aged forty years a coppersmith was found with the top of his head blown off by a pistol which he still gripped in his lifeless hand Monday afternoon at his rooming house in Newport News. The police found $1,331 in cash in Ramosch's room. Ramosch's wife left him several years ago and since that time he had been despondent and several times had threatened to take his life. Report has it that Ramosch went back to Austria, his native home, to visit his family and that his wife ran away with another man while he was away.

Judge J. H. T. Thornton, of the circuit court of Fairfax county, has rendered his decision in the case of the Commonwealth against Joseph E. Willard, Ambassador to Spain, in which he holds that Col. Willard, whose home is in that jurisdiction, must pay taxes on the full value of all stocks and bonds held by him on margin as of February 1, 1916. This case is regarded by lawyers as of farreaching importance to the financial world and to State tax authorities. The amounts involved are not yet known, as the attorneys for Col. Willard have not yet made up the detailed statement.

Fatally injured on Sunday by a blast from an air hose, which ruptured a large intestine, Conductor W. R. Wartham, of the Virginia Railway, died Tuesday at Roanoke. The fatal accident was the result of a prank played by the engineer and fireman of the train, who placed the air hose to Wartham's body as he was leaning from the cab window, the terrific force of air inflating his abdomen.

Surprise was caused in Danville, when it was discovered that the city had been made the victim of a "joker" in the city tax ordinance. A few weeks ago bids were called for on $100,000 school improvement bonds, and the National Bank of Danville offered the best bid, a premium of $2,115 being accepted. After the bid had been accepted it was discovered that a proviso of the city tax ordinance exempts local bidders from having their bonds taxed, and in this way the bank saves $1,150 in taxes. The city loses $313 as a result of not accepting a bid from out of town.

Wallace Page Fawcette, 22, of Ashland, has asked the Supreme Court's permission to drop his last name in order to qualify for $42,000 left by his grand uncle, Wallace Page, who specified that the youth should adopt the testator's name.

Mrs. Jennie Hoal, a white woman, who occupied apartments over Craighill and Jones's drug store in Lynchburg, is under arrest charged with attempted arson. The woman's apartments abut in the rear on the property of No. 3 Fire Station, and on Monday afternoon firemen in the station saw flames in the rear room. Several firemen hastened to the scene with hand extinguishers. They say they found oiled rags stuffed in the floor burning. The fire was put out and the woman was arrested.

Modernized Chiropractic has put more so-called Incurable Diseases on the list of curables than any other drugless method known.

When applied to the study of the nature, cause and elimination of disease, it becomes a science and philosophy which is able to locate and analyze, unerringly, the cause of disease, and provides the best method known at the present time for removing the cause.

The method is original, unique, adequate, and is the most prompt in bringing about a cure. It is absolutely safe.

The basic principles of Chiropratic are in no way at variance with the established facts of Anatomy and Physiology, the two branches of medical science which are the foundation of all others.

STRUGGLE WITH NEGRO

Officer Campbell Has Fight For His Life Late Yesterday Afternoon.

A negro named James Banks, with bandages about his head and his clothing spattered with blood, was placed in the dock in the Police Court room this morning to answer the charge of carrying a pistol, threatening to murder his wife and attempting to kill a policeman.

Officer Walker Campbell testified that between six and seven o'clock yesterday afternoon he repaired to a house on Montgomery street, in the extreme northern section of the city, at the instance of the wife of Banks, who alleged that her husband was armed with a pistol which he flourished at her, threatening to kill her. The officer entered the house, found Banks and demanded the pistol of him. The negro, instead of delivering the weapon, made attempts to use it on the officer. The latter grappled with him and succeeded in seizing the pistol and keeping his hand upon the trigger. Banks held on to it also, and used every exertion to place the muzzle against the officer's head. The latter and the desperate negro struggled and eventually reached the street, where both fell. The negro managed to fall upon the officer's stick, and prevented him from using it. Officer Campbell finally summoned a colored man, who was standing near, to come to his assistance, telling him if he failed to respond he would shoot Banks. Mr. Campbell then succeeded in securing his baton when he brought the issue to a close by delivering a blow upon the head of the negro. He then submitted to arrest.

Banks was fined $50 by Justice Caton for carrying a pistol.

DISTURBANCE AT DANCE

Four of Participants Taken in Custody for Being Drunk and Disorderly

At a late hour last night Officers Garvey and Zell had their attention directed to disorderly proceedings in and near a house on Oronoco street, between Alfred and Columbus, occupied by a man named Bayliss, where a dance was in progress. The floor manager was calling figures in a tone as loud as a boatswain's mate repeats orders in a storm at sea. This extraordinary procedure attracted the attention of most of the residents of the neighborhood, and when the officers arrived they found several of the male attendants at the dance in the street, some drunk and others engaged in improper conduct. Four, who seemed to be most prominent, were approached, when the quaternion manifested a disposition to resist the officers, one, a soldier, boasting of his pugilistic powers. After considerable difficulty, the four men who resisted the officers strenuously, were placed under arrest and conducted to the station house, where they gave their names as John Johnson, Wilford Robinson, Walter Davis and E. L. Brown. Davis left collateral for his appearance in the Police Court this morning, but failed to respond when his name was called.

The others had in the meantime been placed in the box. After the officers had made their statement, an old resident of the neighborhood stepped forward and corroborated the evidence, and added materially to the same. The trio were fined $5 each by Justice Caton.

DEATH OF MRS. EICHBERG

Old and Well-Known Resident Passes Away at Her Home Yesterday Evening.

The shadows deepened gradually in the room. It was very still. Only a curtain here and there trembled, half-listlessly, before the breath of the few fugitive breezes which found their way into the room. In a few minutes Taraz 5676, the Hebrew Year would be at an end. And there was another passing—that of a brave old spirit who had seen eighty such years come and go. Just a few moments before sundown Mrs. Babette Eichberg's soul fluttered out into Eternity to join that of her husband, Isaac, who departed this life, also at an advanced age, on November 6, 1914.

Mrs. Eichberg lived at 114 north Washington street for many years and has been a resident of Alexandria since she came here from Bavaria. She was then a young girl in her teens. Shortly after her arrival she was married to Mr. Eichberg, whose business career here dated from the ante-bellum times. 'A Mother in Israel' fitly describes her for the reason that she was prominent in all the affairs of her own race and participated also in many of the charitable and other activities of Alexandria.

Surviving Mrs. Eichberg are the following children. Louis and Rudolph Eichberg, Mrs. Max Rosenfeld and Mrs. Bernard W. Ehrman, all of Alexandria; Mrs. Morris Lipman, of Jersey City; Mrs. Samuel Feldenheimer, of Kansas City, Mo. and Mrs. Max J. Fay, of Philadelphia.

All the arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed, but it has been decided that the Rev. Dr. Abram Simon, of Washington will conduct the services.

SAY TANKS ARE FAILURES

Cautured Crews Quoted as Declaring Slow Machines are Soon Destroyed.

Berlin, Sept. 28—According to captured crews of the armored automobiles used by the British on the Somme front—the famous "tanks", as the British soldiers call the new machines, have proved, a complete failure, says the Overseas News Agency. It continues:

"The prisoners point out that the cars are only able to advance at the rate of a mile an hour and therefore make excellent targets for artillery fire. They instance a case of seven of these machines that started in the advance of September 6, only two of which reached their objective, even these being then completely put out of action by shell fire. Their occupants declare them atrocious contrivances to travel in, because of the noise, smoke and heat and the treacherous ground over which they have to move when in field service.

"In another case, the prisoners say, the infantry had been told that six of the machines had been sent to the attack, but only one appeared and this shortly afterward also was wrecked."

NEWS OF THE DAY

Holland, the asylum of the stricken peoples of the western European war zone, has become the refuge of thousands of German war-orphans. The German government has sent to the Netherlands several consignments of children to be taken care of by the Dutch. The continued arrival of children from Germany is causing a great deal of comment and uneasiness. While the Dutch realize that they have the right to exercise charity in any way they may see fit, they fear that the problem of feeding the children may become serious.

Moxie Shuler, a 20-year-old colored boy, charged with attacking the 14 year-old daughter of a prominent farmer near Bainbridge, Ga., was taken from a force of deputy sheriff's yesterday and lynched by a mob of the girl's friends. After he was strung up, his body was riddled with bullets.

Forty men, the majority of whom are reported to be members of the Industrial Workers of the World, were locked in refrigerator cars at North Yakima, Wash., yesterday by 50 citiens, who were armed with baseball bats and ax handles, and are standing guard. The men were marched to the cars by the armed citizens, who intended shipping them out of town, but the railroad refused to handle the cars.

Because he would not quit whistling when ordered by a boy friend 10-year-old William Whitman, of Enola, lies fatally wounded in Carlisle, Pa., Young Whitman was sitting on a bridge near Summerdale Park, whistling blithely, when Clarence Horton, 17, of Enola, told him to quit, pointing at Whitman a small rifle with which the lads had been shooting at a mark. Thinking his friend in fun Whitman paid no attention to Horton's threat, which was carried suddenly into effect.

GREECE ENTERS WAR

King Constantine Surrenders to Demands of Pro-Entente Leaders

London, Sept. 28—Greece has decided to enter the war on the side of the allies, according to news agency dispatches from Athens tonight.

King Constantine has surrendered utterly to the demands of the pro-entente leaders.

The King is said to have made his last stand for continued neutrality at the cabinet council which began Tuesday evening and lasted for the greater part of the night.

His wife, the sister of Emperor William, was by his side at the historic conference.

The King's decision came only, it is reported, after it had been clearly demonstrated to him that entrance into the war was the only way to save the nation, as both army and navy are shattered by the partisanship arising from the continued uncertain course of Greece.

As a first move toward the bringing of Greece into the theater of hostilities, it is reported that the Kalogeropoulos cabinet will resign.

A royal proclamation is expected momentarily in Athens.

The chaotic political situation in Greece is indicated by dispatches which state that the majority of the high officers of the army have gone over to Venizelos, the pro-ally revolutionary leader, who landed at Cananea, Crete, yesterday to head the army of rebels which has seized that island.

In addition, an unverified report states that three Greek battleships, with all their officers and crews, have gone over to the allies, joining the Franco-British Mediterranean fleet.

These vessels are said to be the Psara, Spetsai and Hydra.

Four torpedoboat destroyers also are said to have joined the allied armada.

MORE TROUBLE IN MEXICO

Revolt at Vera Cruz Against De Facto Government

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 28—Revolting against the de facto government, the garrison at Vera Cruz has declared itself independent, with Gen. Felipe Cejudo, a one-time Villa leader, in command, according to a telegram received here last night by an American mining company. Famine is spreading throughout the southern republic, the telegram stated, and many smaller garrisons in the Vera Cruz district have revolted against the Carranza government.

Wholesale executions are taking place in Chihuahua city following the Villa attack, it was announced at military headquarters here Tuesday. Five hundred Villa adherents have been executed since the fight, the report to Gen. George Bell, Jr., states, and many other prisoners have been taken.

SUBJECT FOR TAXATION

Far-Reaching Decision of Judge Thornton on Stock Held on Margin.

Holders in Virginia of stock, purchased through a broker on margin, are liable for taxation on the stock without any deduction of money not paid in, according to a decision rendered by Judge J. B. T. Thornton, of the Circuit Court of Fairfax County and of the Circuit Court of Alexandria city, in the case of the Commonwealth against Colonel Joseph E. Willard, American ambassador to Spain.

The decision is a far-reaching one, establishing a legal precedent under which tax officials will rule in the future that the holders of stocks and bonds purchased on margin, and not the broker, who does the buying, will be held responsible for the taxes assessed against the documents.

The Commonwealth was represented in the case by Christopher B. Garnett, counsel to the State Tax Board, Colonel Willard was also represented by counsel.

Another decision of great importance in the construction of the tax laws was that handed down by Judge Dabney, of the Corporation Court of Charlottesville, who held, in the case of Moran, the clerk, against Gilmer, commissioner of accounts, that where a deed of trust secures the payment of a principal sum with interest, whether or not either the principal or interest is represented by notes, both the principal and interest are to be considered as the amount secured by the deed of trust for the purpose of fixing the tax on the deed. The decision of the court sustains an opinion given several months ago by Assistant Attorney-General Leslie C. Garnett, in reply to a query by Auditor C. Lee Moore.

Judge Thornton, has held also that a resident of Virginia who has life interest in a trust estate in Connecticut, is required to return its value for taxation in Virginia. This decision was rendered in the case of the Commonwealth against Mosell.

VIRGINIA NEWS

A warrant for the arrest of a twelve-year-old boy, whose name is withheld on a charge of turning a switch at Bowers Hill last Sunday night and causing a Seaboard Air Line passenger train to plunge against a coal train on a siding was issued Tuesday in Norfolk and is in the hands of the Norfolk county authorities. More than a score were injured in the wreck.

Robbed of all he had by a burglar several days ago H. S. Duke, thirty-one years old of Richmond, early yesterday morning placed a revolver to his head and blew his brains out. It is the belief of his pretty young wife that the burgary of their home was the direct cause of the suicide.

JEWISH SERVICES IMPRESSIVE.

Both Orthodox and Reformed Congregations Celebrate Rosh Hashanna

The members of the two Jewish congregations of Alexandria last evening celebrated the opening of the Hebrew New Year, 5677, with the very impressive services of their faith. Both congregations also held special services this morning at ten o'clock. The members of the Orthodox congregation, Agudas Achin, meeting in Sarepta Hall, will also hold services again tonight and tomorrow morning. Those of the Reformed faith, however, only celebrate the anniversary on the one day.

The rites observed in the Orthodox Temple, 206 North Washington street, were directed by Rev. Dr. Solomon Landman, of Cincinnatti, Ohio, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dreifus while in the city. Dr. Landman was assisted by Bernard Weil, president of the congregation, and Julius Wolf. In the musical portions of the service Alfred Friedlander, with the violin, and Miss Laura Hoagland, pianist of the Gypsy Smith, Jr., meetings, in a soprano solo, were much appreciated.

The services of the Agudas Achin congregation are being conducted by the Rev. Dr. Lucks, of Washington. He will officiate at 7:30 o'clock tonight and also tomorrow morning again at 10 o'clock.

The Rosh Hashanna marks the beginning of the Jewish High holidays and will be followed by ten days of penitence which reach their climax in the day of Atonement or Yom Kippur, the day of fasting, commencing on Friday, October 6, at sunset, and continuing until sundown of the following day.

The services of both congregations were largely attended not alone by their own members, but by friends of the faith from other localities and also Gentiles.

Get Rid of That Miserable Feeling.

There are few diseases that make one feel more miserable than a disordered stomach. Mrs. A. Wingale, Gorham, N. Y., writes: "I began using Chamberlain's Tablets about five years ago. At that time I was having a great deal of trouble with my stomach. I suffered great distress due to indigestion and constipation. Nothing did me much good until I got Chamberlain's Tablets." Obtainable everywhere.

The wounded companion of J. C. Graveur, prominent New York social worker and garage owner, who was shot and killed by Mrs. Harry Belzer, a discarded sweetheart, who then committed suicide in a Philadelphia, hotel early yesterday, continues to maintain the silence which she has kept ever since the triple shooting. Although she could not be drawn into any admission, the police are convinced that she is the wife of Joseph C. Le Duc, a well-known Chicago business man, who is reported to be on his way to Philadelphia to make the identification.
